Social Justice and Community

Opportunities for Involvement and Student Organizations, 2018-2019

Multicultural Community Weekend

MCW is for those interested in being more involved in the multicultural community of our college. The goal of the weekend retreat is to learn more about our community and ourselves and to develop leadership skills. Through a series of structured exercises and discussions, we will explore areas impacting our individual identities (e.g. race, class, sexual orientation, gender), the College Ten community and our society as a whole.

Terry Freitas Cafe

Terry Freitas Cafe was created by students who wanted a chill spot in which to hang out and build community. Open daily and every night, you can come here to hang out with friends, study for classes, play pool or board games or attend a variety of special programs such as open mics, pool tournaments, or karaoke nights.

Community Garden Class & Club

We are creating a college garden! The Garden Club meets weekly for a home-cooked community dinner, meaningful conversations, updates on sustainability initiatives and discussions on the future of our garden. Students can also enroll in the 2-credit class in Spring, which is a hands-on introduction to ecological horticulture.

Praxis - Student Volunteer Community

Praxis is an organization geared toward community building and social justice. By participating in Praxis, students gain exposure to a variety of Santa Cruz community agencies and explore what it means to be social agents of social change.

Teaching Social Justice - CLTE 191

Upper Division College Ten students are invited to apply to teach CLTE 85. Student instructors go through training in November and in winter quarter and meet weekly with an instructor to explore materials, techniques and tools to facilitate their own weekly section of 15-20 students for CLTE 85.

Alternative Spring Break

Make a difference this spring break in the city of Watsonville, Santa Cruz County. Join a team of dedicated UCSC students working together for social justice and stronger communities.

College Ten Student Senate

Student Government is the College's governing body. It appoints students to campus and college-wide committees, advises College administration on policy development and provides monetary support to student organizations.

16th Annual Practical Activism Conference

The Practical Activism Conference is a daylong, student-led conference with speakers, organizations, and hands-on activism sessions. The conference is planned by a group of dedicated College Nine, College Ten, and Oakes College students.

Triangle Club

Twice-monthly gatherings and other opportunities for celebrating and strengthening queer community at College Nine and College Ten. Open to all LGBTQ students and allies.

Social Justice Issues Workshop - CLTE 85

College Ten's 2-credit class. Learn more about our themes. Taught in Winter Quarter by your student peers. Enroll in Fall Quarter.

ENGAGE - Explore New Growth and Gain Experience

ENGAGE, the College Ten leadership program, meets weekly in fall quarter offering students an opportunity to find community, develop their leadership skills, explore their relationship to social justice, and complete a group project in the community.

CREATE - Cultural Resources to Educate and to Empower

CREATE offers a community/home at College Nine and College Ten for students of color to find support and empowerment through mentorship, friendship, resources and skill-sharing.

IAG - International Affairs Group

Based out of the International Living Center, the International Affairs Group (IAG) is an opportunity for all College Nine and College Ten community members to engage in lively discussions about important current international issues with one another through guest speakers, film, literature, media, and personal experiences.
